Jewish Principles And Ethical Guidelines

Judaism may be described as an “ethical monotheism”, a religion based on a concept that there is a single incorporeal God who gives commandments which constitute a moral law for all humanity. This divine moral law is embodied in the codes set out in the first five books of the Bible, known as the Torah, developed in the later Biblical works, and expanded in a continuing flow of ethical and legal literature, as described in The Talmud and Other Literature.
